Re: Data & Insights Analyst — ref JN/INSIGHT/16963

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am applying for the Data & Insights Analyst role. I have two years and eight months of commercial data and BI work, from September 2020 to May 2023, and I have spent the two years since on the operational side of it.

WHAT I HAVE DONE

At Confused.com I combined data from multiple sources in Microsoft SQL Server and built reports and dashboards in Tableau that fed product and customer decisions. I worked from tickets raised by the people who needed the numbers, which in practice meant working out what they were actually trying to decide rather than what they had asked for.

At CeRID in Nairobi I ran data management across development programmes and sat with the people who owned the data until it was reportable. At Tech&City I reviewed campaign performance against response data to work out what to change next. That is the before-and-after question in your advert, at a smaller scale.

WHY THIS ONE

Two reasons. First, operational data is what I know. I drive Class 1 for DHL and spent a year on agency work before that, so I understand how operational performance data gets produced and where it goes wrong, not just how it looks once it reaches a report. Second, your advert asks for someone who is comfortable with stakeholders and root causes rather than dashboards alone. That is the part of the work I actually enjoy, and it is most of what I did at CeRID and Tech&City.

On tooling: Tableau is the platform I have used commercially, and I am working towards Microsoft PL-300 alongside it. On CRM, my hands-on experience is HubSpot rather than Salesforce, so the platform would be new to me even though the concepts are not.

I'd like to do this work and I am ready to talk whenever suits.

Yours sincerely,
